Ole Parish informs the Times-Review that the locality that he resides in north of Tuscarora is overrun with grasshoppers, crickets and squirrels, which bid fair to devastate the country.

The Reveille says the weather is quite warm at Austin. The streets are quite dusty and the feed on the hillsides is rapidly drying up. A storm is badly needed, and if one comes had shortly, winter feed for stock will be very scarce.

Poor Patti! She had to make a rule that she will never kiss any but her intimate friends, because after her last concert 3,000 ladies insisted upon embracing her.—Exchange.

Her excuse for her action does not seem specially well founded.

A number of houses are to be started in Chicago during the Exposition, devoted exclusively to gilded vice. The interior furnishings are to cost $150,000 for each establishment. They are to be stocked with favorites from the harem of the Sultan of Turkey. If the tariff on vice continues to advance with other commodities of the windy city, gentlemen of sportive tendencies will find it a measure of economy to take along their own private harems, when they visit the Fair.

Lovers Hard Lives.

City of Mexico, June 24.—The city police authorities here have been informed of a double tragedy enacted near the town of Texala, in the State of Guerrero. Miss Isadora Garcia, a beautiful girl, the daughter of wealthy parents, eloped with Javier Bolatein, a well known man of the same locality.

When Juan Garcia, the brother of the girl, learned of the elopement, he became terribly enraged and started in pursuit of the couple. He overtook them as they were riding along a highway and, without a word, drew his pistol and fired several shots at the lovers, killing them both. Garcia then surrendered himself to the authorities.

BEAUTY CONTEST.

NAME:

Burial of Leland Stanford.

Menlo Park, Cal., June 24.—This afternoon the funeral services of Senator Stanford were held in the quadrangle of the University, and the remains were laid beside those of his son. At 12 a special arrived from S. F., bringing the pall-bearers and intimate friends, the clergyman and choir of Grace Church, and were driven to the residence, the train proceeding to Palo Alto.

At the residence, after a short prayer by Rev. Horatio Stebbins, the procession proceeded with the remains to the quadrangle where under a great booth which had been erected at the north end, they were placed on a raised platform. Fully four thousand people listened to the simple and impressive services read by Bishop Nicholas, assisted by Rev. R. C. Foute. After music was rendered by the choir, Rev. Horatio Stebbins delivered the funeral oration.

The cortege then moved to the family mausoleum, where the remains were placed in the vault.

Empire Items.

The Mexican Mill started eight stamps yesterday on Crown Point ore on the test which I informed the APPEAL of some time ago. The test will be through Roland Cutts and Jabe Laws. Two experts are running the concentrators under the critical supervision of Hank May. Two hundred tons will be the amount of ore experimented with. There are eight more of the Mexican stamps crushing Crown Point ore which is worked in pans, and six pans running on tailings. There are fourteen men working in the Mexican at present.

The Morgan Mill is running thirty stamps on Con. California ore and three pans on slimes.

The water of the Carson is all inside of its banks and still going down. Fishing is said to be good at the Bland place. Owen McIntee keeps the market well supplied. Sam Longbaugh left here last Sunday for his wood camp in Alpine county Cal., to look after his wood business.

NEIL MAHER.

Hamilton's Condition.

James Hamilton the man shot yesterday, is reported in a very precarious condition and little hope is entertained for his recovery. The wound has not bled unless internally. He passed a bad night suffered much pain. While the right lung, which was no doubt perforated by the bullet, is free from blood, there are signs of distress in the cavity of the belly, which is beginning to bloat. The doctor gives no encouragement of the ultimate recovery, but he may linger a day or two. The young man is a native of Plymouth, England, where his people reside.—Chronicle.

A San Francisco Bank Goes.

The Pacific Bank, of San Francisco, run by McDonald, the vinegar bitters man, has failed, and the excitement in San Francisco yesterday was even greater than witnessed when the Bank of California went under.

Lost—Ladies silver watch, chain and fob initials and date on front cover. Return to this office and receive reward. j151w

Senator Hill for Free Coinage.

Senator David B. Hill of New York has dispelled all doubts as to his position on the silver question by declaring unequivocally for free coinage. He favors the repeal of the Sherman act and in favor of other recent acts relating to silver and the adoption of the financial policy of the Government from its organization to 1873, when the infamous demonetization act was passed in the interest of bondholders on this and on the other side of the Atlantic.

The Senator is enlisted for the war, and will doubtless have many followers in New York, where he was twice elected Governor. His colleague from the Empire State will doubtless join him in advocating the remonetization of silver and legislation for the people of the United States rather than for the money sharks of London. The Senator has the courage or his convictions, and will speak for free coinage in his own State and Ohio, in both of which are to be elections next fall. He will have the proud satisfaction of knowing that he is advocating the cause of the masses, and that the people who have studied the silver question, with the exception of a few place-hunters, "who bend the supple hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning," are with him heart and soul, regardless of consequences to party.

The free coinage cause is steadily gaining ground. The business depression is educating the people. They realize that one-half the money of ultimate redemption has been demonetized, that there is not gold enough to pay one per cent. of the indebtedness of the world, and that all the gold and silver in the country is need for its business requirements.

Like the Borden Case.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—A crime committed yesterday morning at Brightwood, a suburb of Indianapolis, suggests the famous Borden murder. At nine o'clock yesterday morning William Kline, night officer at the Brightwood shops, went to his home, gave his wife his month's wages and went to bed. At 10:30 his wife says that she heard him moaning, and opening the door she saw a horrifying spectacle. The floor bed and walls were red with blood. Lying beyond the bed was her husband, his head horrible mutilated and his brains oozing out.

On the table was a bloody hatchet. There was nothing to indicate who had used it. A front door and a front window to the room in which he lay were closed. A back door was opened and it led through the kitchen to the back yard. Mrs. Kline says that a short after her husband went to bed she left the premises for a few minutes and the assault must have been committed during her absence.

There are no indications in any other room of any one's entrance and nothing in Kline's room was taken. In the absence of tangible clues the neighbors think that Kline had an enemy. They recall that he said a few days ago that he had been robbed by an unknown person of $30, and that he then declared he would have the life of the man who had wronged him or would lose his own in the attempt. Nothing has developed as yet as to who this unknown enemy is. Last evening Kline was in a comatose condition, with no hopes of recovery. He has three children.

Omene.

There is a chance that Omene, the seductive dancer of the Orient, will be here under Piper's management this Summer.

All other dancers take a back seat to Omene. She is a Circassian girl from Strombole, whose father was a Turk. She was the chief dancing girl of the Sultan of Turkey, but skipped and came to America.

As an exponent of the Oriental dances, she is quite "out of sight," as the slang phrase goes, although there isn't much out of sight either, when she goes on the stage.

Annual Settlement.

W. E. Morgan, of the Mint Bureau at Washington, arrived in Carson yesterday to make the annual settlement with the Carson Mint. Mr. Morgan is accompanied by A. A. Hassen, also of the Mint Bureau.

Mrs. Nevers wishes to give notice to picnics and others, that parties wishing to occupy her grounds will first secure permission from her.
